Dear Students!

Welcome back! I'm very happy to have you all this year in our school!

I hope you had a great, wonderful summer.

I wish you a very promising year; learn wisely, be the leader and take control of your own learning process. Prepare, pay attention and participate actively in your classes. Respect your teachers and your classmates. We hope you listen to some of our advices and read wisely, watch the news and download useful apps that can help you.

Be curious, go and broaden your horizons, actively seek knowledge from this great world that you live in. No matter what your interests are, the world has so much to offer.

Ms. Yulia Kononova

Because we care!

As some of you might know the month of October is internationally recognized as the breast cancer awareness month. And on the 28th, we wanted to join the world in bringing light to one of the most important health topics and help our students understand and become more aware of such a prominent disease.

We invited the girls from all the sections from grades 8-12, and gave them a lecture that covered all the important details of breast cancer. We played some quick games, and instructed the girls to all the ways they can help themselves and others when it comes to diagnosis or treatment. If you're interested in the cause, please visit www.jbcp.jo for more details.

COMMUNITY SERVICE INTERNATIONAL SECTION (2018-2019)

To align our school vision with AdvancED high standards, the learning center at the international section (7-12) recommended community service for 12 graders. The activities of community service include reading stories, playing games, and intensive English classes for (1-6) grades.

the World Scholar's Cup® HIGHLIGHTS World's Scholars Cup

...Another year, another round, and a brand new team. Were back at it again with the world's scholar's cup competition and this time we are in it to win it. Although last year's team made remarkable achievement in the competition and were qualified to advanced rounds, this year we're aiming for more. Preparations are already in place, and teams have already been selected.

Weekly meetings are being held for practice during which the participating students debate like their lives depend on-it. From science, philosophy, politics, religion, to abstract concepts, we've covered it all in our debates. And there is still more to cover and more to learn every day in order to accomplish great things in this competition. Huge thanks for Ms. Nataly for taking responsibility of this project and please wish us luck.

Our hearts are broken!

Thursday the 25th of October.... A dark day for all of us.... A day where the souls of innocent children were washed away by a storm near the Dead Sea.... They were out on a trip to have fun but were unfortunately blindsided by the horrible weather and the torrents that took their lives and bodies from us. They may no longer be here but the memory of this day will forever remain. Our deepest condolences go out to the families of the young children that passed away. We offer them our prayers, hoping that it can ease the pain. May their pure souls rest in peace.

Parents meeting

On Saturday, 3rd of November, the first parents' meeting was held to show the parents the results of the first month exam. Parents and teachers have discussed educational topics and gave their opinions and suggestions regarding academic and non-academic issues. The meeting was an overall success and we were glad to give our students and parent the time and attention they deserved. We thank all the parents that participated and came, and thank all our teachers for their time and effort in making sure all students are in the best place they can be.

Red Crescent donations!

We are proud to announce that our generous charitable students have eagerly donated a good sum of money to the red crest foundation in support of all those in need. It's important for young adults to feel empathy and to sympathise with other hence why we continuously encourage any charity work and any type of fundraising. We believe it can help our students be better citizens and bigger contributors to the society.

SENIORS PICTURE DAY

Nothing sounds better to a student that a last first day of school, let alone being called a senior. Definitely, something to be celebrated and remembered. Best way to remember things nowadays, take a picture! U know what they say, "it u didn't take a picture, did it really happen?" of course well forever have these memories to mind, but well also have them on Instagram (priorities first). We went ahead and had a "Senior's picture day". It's fair to say we all updated our feeds afterwards. It was a lot of fun, a lot of memories, a lot of pictures, and definitely a bit of a struggle (because trying to get over 60 students to line up and take a decent picture is no easy task!).
